

Seeing the Invisible

As scientists, we like to make pictures, or images, of the results of our experiments. By taking rubbings of trees and leaves we can make a picture of what they felt like.

Make a rubbing of some tree bark and a leaf	What can you learn by looking at the rubbing? Is the bark or leaf rough or smooth? What can you see?
Tree Bark
Leaf	